WIFE SLAYS HUSBAND
WHEN HE SHOWS KNIFE

Spouse Had Followed Her to Attorney's Office, Where She Shot
Him to Death.

Carthage, Mo., Nov. 1.—"I have nothing in the world to say except that I shot in self-defense. I did it to save my own life," were the words uttered by Mrs. R. O. Randall as she coolly walked out of the office of Attorneys John H. Flanagan and T. C. Tadlock, with a smoking revolver in her hand, after having shot her husband to death. Randall was a real estate dealer, and followed his wife to the law office. It is believed that he intended to kill her for she came with an open knife, after having told a friend on the street that "somebody is going to die today." Mrs. Randall left her husband on account of repeated cruelties, and began suit for divorce, and was in consultation with her attorney when attacked by her husband. She was accompanied by her brother-in-law, Counselman Keltner, when Randall made the deadly assault on her. She fired six shots taking effect, and Randall fell dead in the office, with the open knife still clutched in his hand. The coroner's jury found the facts as stated here and rendered a verdict justifying the woman.

JUDGE ORDERS JURY VERDICT

Rather Unusual Action in Case Estate
Suit at Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 1.—Judge Wing of the United States Circuit court has decided that the evidence in the long-fought suit against the Cleveland heirs of the Case estate was of such a nature that it could not be intelligently considered by the jury. The court, therefore, took the case from the jury and instructed them to find in favor of the defendants, known as the Cleveland heirs, who have been in possession of the estate since the death of Leonard Case. The testator died nearly twenty years ago, leaving a vast property in and around Cleveland, worth many millions of dollars. Eastern heirs have for years sought to gain possession of the property, carrying the litigation through the various lower courts, where in each instance they were defeated.

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.)
Paris, Nov. 1.—W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr. was yesterday condemned by default to two days imprisonment and a fine of ten francs for speeding his automobile in the city of Paris along the streets above the limit of the law. Vanderbilt will appeal the case to the supreme court to have his sentence remitted or he will submit to arrest when he returns to France later in the year. The sentence was the result of his speeding along the streets of Paris on September 12 when he was returning from the Maison Latite races. He was stopped by a police officer and placed under arrest, being released on his own word. The judgment by default was a surprise to his lawyer who did not know the case was for trial and had made no preparation to appear for some time yet.

Ounce.

New York, Nov. 1.—Friday's price for bar silver in London, at 23 1/2 pence, or 47 cents, per ounce, is the lowest price on record. The nearest approach to this figure was on April 21 last. The causes for the decline are the world's overproduction and the falling off of the demand. There is sufficient silver coming out as a by-product to supply the legitimate requirements, and all other production constitutes a surplus.

PACIFIC CABLE IS ALL LAID

First Message Sent from Australia to Vancouver Over the Long Wire.

London, Nov. 1.—The last section of the British Imperial Pacific cable was laid at the Fiji Islands yesterday. A congratulatory cable message to King Edward reached Buckingham Palace this morning, being the first message sent over the line which links the British empire together.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 1.—The British Imperial cable was completed at 7 p. m. yesterday, although announcement was withheld by the telegraph constructors until this morning. The cable was used today for the sending of messages of congratulation to the British, Canadian and Australian governments.

The cable is still in the hands of the contractors and it will not be open for business until about three weeks. The section between Hamilton creek and Fanning Island, which is the longest in the world, has already undergone a series of tests and has proved entirely equal to the expectations. The great question in the success of the cable was over this enormous stretch, but it was found by test to give a speed of over one hundred words a minute with the Dearlove transmitter. The actual time occupied in the transmission of a message from this city to Sydney, Australia, will be less than five minutes in the case of a short commercial message.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 1.—Sir Sanford Fleming received today the following cablegram over the Pacific cable from Premier Seddon of New Zealand: Oct. 31, 1902.—Diligent to congratulate you on completion of great work on Pacific cable, thus rewarding your interest and labor and forging further link to advantage of our empire. SEDDON.

DOUKHOBORS ARE STILL WANDERING

Strange People Refuse to Return to Their Homes, and Are Starving.

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.)
Yorcktown, Nov. 1.—The chief of the immigration department has about given up all hope of saving the wandering Doukhobors from starvation and thinks that it will be an impossibility to induce them to return to their deserted farms without a force of arms. In the country they are wandering through there is little or no vegetation and even the roots they have been eating will soon disappear and leave the women and children weak from the lack of nourishment, unable to go on, and to die in their tracks. Word has been sent to the Ottawa government of the conditions as they exist and it is probable that they will take some steps to alleviate the sufferings if not to send troops to force them to go back to their farms. The great objection to the troops is that as soon as the fanatics think they are persecuted they become more and more crazy and refuse to budge thinking that they are doing the will of Jesus in allowing themselves to be driven about. The problem is a trying one for the whole district and particularly so for Yorcktown which is but scantily supplied with food for such an army.

WANT TARIFF ON MEAT REDUCED

German People Say They Must Have Lower Prices and More Cattle.

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.)
Berlin, Nov. 1.—Increasing pressure is being brought to bear upon the government with the object of throwing open the borders to the importation of beef cattle and a general relaxation of the duties of dressed meats. The present prohibitive tariff is much felt by the middle and poorer classes and there is really much suffering among them throughout the whole of Germany. A meat famine is looked for as the local cattle are much less than the demand requires and foreign cattle must be brought in. With the present duties this would mean an increased cost of the meats and would raise the expenses to an almost prohibitive price. It is thought that the Government will make some recognition of this fact and will lower the duties so that meats can be imported and not increase the prices over the present.

BANQUET WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

GOOD TIME FOR CONGREGATIONAL CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS.

FEAST FOLLOWED BY PROGRAM

One Hundred Young People Enjoyed the Occasion—Decorations in Purple and White.

Over one hundred members and invited friends of the Christian Endeavor society of the Congregational church enjoyed the society's annual banquet which was given in the church parlors last evening. Invitations had been issued for 6:30 o'clock and on their arrival the guests were received in the large Sunday school room, the reception committee consisting of Oscar Halverson, President of the society, Rev. and Mrs. Robert C. Denison and Miss Ada Fenton.

At 7 o'clock the guests were ushered downstairs into the pleasant parlors where the long tables were laid. The rooms were beautifully decorated in purple and white, the society's colors, and large paper chrysanthemums being used effectively. The chandeliers were covered with a mass of flowers in harmonizing shades of purple and streamers of bunting, to which the flowers were thickly fastened, were looped from the central chandelier to the archways were hung white portulaca, and large bunches of purple and white chrysanthemums decorated the tables.

Decoration Committee. This effective setting for the serving of the banquet was the result of the artistic taste and handwork of the decoration committee, which consisted of the Misses Cora Bonestell, Myra Hoskins, Belle Angel, Margaret Cochran, Hattie Richards and Mr. Bernard Kearney.

Tempting Spread. The banquet itself was a great success, the menu being of unusual excellence and the service faultless. The tables were cared for prettily by a committee of young girls and boys from the Junior Endeavor society. The following was the menu:

Escalloped Potatoes Cold Tongue
Hot Rolls Fruit Salad Brown Bread
Almonds and Raisins

Ice Cream Assorted Cake. Arrangements for the banquet and its services were in the hands of the following ladies, Mrs. R. C. Denison and Misses Alice Fenton, Edith Echlin, Edna Rogers, Mae Merritt, Laura Dudley, Alice Estes, Laura Bump, Alice Crawford, Hattie Richards, Nellie Butts and Kathryn Dudley.

Entertaining Postprandial. The program following the supper was brief but very interesting, an address by A. E. Matheson, former state president of the society, taking the place of the customary toasts. Oscar Halverson, president of the local society, presided happily and opened the program with a few well chosen words of greeting and a humorous story well told.

Miss Jessie Foster, the talented young pianist, played the "Second Mazurka" by Godard with brilliancy and expressive feeling and the number was heard with appreciative enjoyment.

Address by Mr. Matheson. Mr. Matheson then spoke briefly and with his usual eloquent earnestness to the young people. He complimented the society on the appointments for the banquet, speaking especially of the decorations and of the large number of guests present. He then referred to the greater responsibilities which rest on the young people well as to the fact that they now bear the enlarged responsibilities. There are many evil tendencies to resist, conspicuous among them being materialism and the love of worldly success. Interests are so varied and many that there is the tendency to get in the wrong current. The problem is, how to resist this tendency.

Mr. Matheson then urged upon the young people the importance of taking time to meditate and pray although not withdrawing from the currents. He suggested the organization of a society to stay at home and spend more time in getting acquainted with the family. By taking time to meditate, the quality of character will be gained. The interesting address closed with a plea for simplicity of life as an aid in resisting the evils of materialism.

Closing Numbers. Miss Jennie Spooner's rich contralto voice was then heard at excellent advantage in the beautiful song, "Good-bye, Sweet Day," by Kate Vannah. Miss Spoon playing her own accompaniment. After this number Mr. Halverson spoke briefly and encouraging the past year and of the bright outlook for the future. He bespoke the loyalty of all members and urged others to become members and after his remarks the program was closed by the singing of "God Be With You" by the company.

Social Session. The balance of the evening was devoted pleasantly to an informal social and at a seasonable hour good-nights were said. Among the guests of honor were the presidents of the other young people's societies of the other churches. Among those who contributed to the success of the banquet by taking care of details were Misses Vera Valleeau, Edith Maltress and Bethana Miller, the program committee, and Misses Maude Murgold, Edna Rogers, Myrtle Strang and Mabel Holmbeck, the committee on invitations.

"DEESTRICK SKULE" MEETS WITH FAVOR

A Large Audience Attended the Laughable Comedy of School Life as It Appeared in the Sixties.

Perhaps it would have been more accurate if instead of advertising "one hundred and twenty minutes," the "Deestrick Skule" management had promised one continuous roar of amusement, two hours in length. The play given under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. was packed to surfeit with clean humor, some of it dating, it is true, from the year when the scene is laid, but none the less laughable because of its antiquity. Every chair in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium was filled, and numbers were forced to stand up at the rear and along the sides of the hall. It would be going too far to say that the auditors listened with intense admiration to a dramatic rendition of the lines which easily ranked with the work of Helly, Scribner, or even Moulton. No one wanted it and it would have been unreasonable to have expected it. In fact the amateurishness of the comedy was one of its most attractive features.

Kelly Excellent. Prof. Kelly in the part of the schoolmaster could not well be called an actor. He lived the part, and no counterfeited presentation of the character could have equalled the naturalness and sympathy with which he was, rather than played, the country "master" of sixty years ago.

No mention of the production would be complete without some reference to the costuming, and yet an adequate description of the outlandish regalia in which the members of the cast were arrayed would be impossible. Woodcock shoes for the Dutchman, and copious furs for the troublesome twins, gave one instance of the care which had been given to the details. Checkered gingham were in the majority for the frocks of the girls, while in the play the boys wore everything from railroad overalls to celluloid collar and resplendent bow tie.

Quartette A Favorite. It would be hard to fix upon the favorite of the all-star cast which produced the play. No one character was given undue prominence, but each part was equally developed. Probably no one thing on the entire program received quite as enthusiastic a reception as the village choir consisting of William Garbutt, Miss Cora Anderson, Miss Fanny Clark and George Paris, although the Sweetbriar twins, T. O. Howe and A. E. Bingham were close favorites.

Mr. Wilson Lane gave an exhibition of stuttering which has probably never been equaled, although J. S. Taylor's interpretation of the "Dutchie" had points of distinction which would give it a place by itself. The Misses Crosby, MacDonald, Hanson and Paulson were close competitors for premier honors, while H. F. Nott captured deserving applause now and then. Mrs. Rexford's solo and encore both won enthusiastic recognition.

All-Star Cast. In short, every member of the cast was better than anyone else, and it would have been a hardened theatergoer who could have left as the excellent stage hands drew the curtains together at the close of the last act without lavish words of comment.

"Deestrick Skule" is built up in four logical segments. The first of these shows the children wending their way along toward the school house and displaying about the same degree of enthusiasm as scholars do in their later days.

Grand Climax. The second scene represents the morning session of school, and is followed by the noon hour, during which time the frolicsome children spent their time in devouring tantalizingly toothsome lunches. The third scene marked the climax of the play with a program of "singing and speaking." A number of the selections were of unusual merit, not only in the sentiment and literary merit which they displayed, and in the abandon and aplomb with which they were given. Mrs. C. D. Child, Louise Hanson, Mrs. George Williams, I. F. Wortendyke, as well as unnumbered others were the favorites.

MODERN FOOTBALL. One of the most important personages in football is the substitute. He must sit in the mud on the sidelines, wrapped in a red blanket that makes him and his fellows look like squaws at a meat issue. Every time his team gains ten yards he must lay into the air, do a medicine dance, and wave his blanket. This rule applies only to the substitute who has never made the first team. If the substitute has played in the team and been displaced he must call attention to how much better he could have done it. When the team is winning all the substitute has to do is to cheer. When the score is 0 to 42 he sits around feeling like the man in the death cell who hears the scaffolding building. It is a strange thing that the substitute always gets his opportunity when the team is being massacred.

Being a substitute entitles a man to be pounded up every afternoon for three months in order to give the first team a little practice. It is also entitled a man to eat raw meat and stale bread with two teaspoonfuls of ale once a week, when he gets overtrained. The reward is that, after being a substitute for three years, he is allowed to wear a "Q" on his sweater.

A CARD. We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Green's warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

KING FOOTBALL REIGNS SUPREME

Contests All Over the Country Excite Interest This Afternoon.

All other platoon contests today are eclipsed by the great battle between the Cardinal and the Maize and Blue Chicago. When that is decided the pent-up enthusiasm of the winning college will break forth in such a tumult as has never before been displayed in the west. But other games will be played notwithstanding the fact that this one contest takes supreme rank in popular interest and thousands will watch their outcome.

Chicago and Beloit battled on Marshall Field at Chicago this morning, and while the Midwayites professed to look on the meeting as valueless save for practice, it was a valuable game that they did not line up with an aggregation of scrubs. The final score of 18 to 0 was not a bad one. Illinois and Indiana will have a hard one, probably be as close as any of the minor events, although the Illinoisans are expected to win gracefully. Minnesota will not have a hard proposition to solve in Grinnell but Ames may puzzle the Iowans before they succeed in making the winning score. Ames is made up of a bunch of nerve and muscle this year, and Coach Knipe has been looking anxiously after the Iowa eleven for the last seven days.

In the East Cornell and Princeton will put up the biggest game of the day. Since the hairbreadth victory of the Tigers last year, the thousands have come to the conclusion that they should down some big game today, and it would create but little surprise if they succeeded. Yale-West Point cannot fail to be close and interesting and the same is true of the battle between Harvard and the Carlisle Indians.

A. F. SPOONER WILL MOVE TO CHICAGO

Family Will Reside There While He is Under the Care of a Specialist.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Spooner and daughters Florence and Phyllis, leave tomorrow morning for Chicago, where the family will reside temporarily while Mr. Spooner is undergoing medical treatment. Mr. Spooner has been suffering for over a year with abscesses on the back of his head which have been stubborn in defying the skill of local physicians. Several months ago he underwent a surgical operation at the Palmer Memorial hospital and it was thought that the cause of the trouble was entirely removed.

The operation was not as successful as had been hoped for, however, and has continued to form behind one of the large muscles in the neck. Recently Mr. Spooner went to specialists, and consulted several other operations. Those who advised another operation would give no assurance that it would prove successful and Mr. Spooner finally placed his case in the hands of an eminent specialist, who guarantees to effect a complete cure without operation whatever, or no pay.

Eight months is the time in which the specialist expects to completely cure Mr. Spooner of the disease and during that time demands that Mr. Spooner shall remain in Chicago and be under his care daily. The family has therefore deemed it advisable to move to Chicago so as to make a home for Mr. Spooner while he is being treated. Their home on Madison street has been rented to Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Ford but they hope to return to Janesville within one year. They thank with them to Chicago the kindness wishes of many friends for Mr. Spooner's complete recovery and their speedy return.

TOBACCO FIGHT IS STILL ON

TRUST AND ANTI-TRUST CONCERNS AT ODDS.

CROPS THROUGHOUT COUNTRY

Tariff and Other Regulations Are Under Discussion for Their Betterment.

Over four million dollars will represent the money expended in the last year by tobacco dealers for premiums. When the figures have reached such proportions as that, it is useless to longer look upon the premium giving custom as an insignificant matter and unworthy of notice. However pernicious the habit may be, intrinsically, the fact still remains that the largest dealers of the country have taken it up and found it advisable to continue the practice.

Although the custom has been roundly condemned by a number of the large handlers, yet there are others who rank well in the tobacco world who are not only continuing their policy but are making preparations to extend it. Perhaps the latest development in that direction is toward a trading stamp system, such as has at times been practiced at general stores outside of the tobacco business.

Trading Stamp System. If these plans are followed, stamps having a certain monetary value will be affixed to each package of tobacco which goes out from the house, and these are to have a general value for the purchase of premiums. This plan does not meet with general approval except from the manufacturers for allowing stamps to have universal value, it stamps to advertise any one brand or position is adopted. It will probably be by the makers rather than by the retailers and jobbers.

The annual report of the commissioner of internal revenue has been nearly completed and touches upon the tobacco trade in several points. The commissioner has decided to omit from his report the recommendation which has been earnestly called for by many manufacturers that congress authorize a statutory package containing ten cigars.

Revenue Commission

For the past two years great pressure has been brought to bear upon the department to permit the use of the package of ten cigars, but the most advantageous arrangement that it has been possible to make under the present law, has been to permit the use of a substantial unsealed subdivision package. The chief of the tobacco division has forwarded to the commission a recommendation that congress grant authority for the stamping of statutory packages of ten cigars. The latter will probably be brought to the attention of congress at the coming session.

In the commissioner's report attention will also be called to the increase in the output of cigarettes taxed 54 per cent per thousand, which will be attributed to the ad valorem provision of the war revenue reduction and repeals acts. The total revenue from cigarettes taxed at 54 cents, during the fiscal year 1902, was $198,124, or at the rate of $16,535 per month. During July of the current year, however, the receipts from this class of cigarettes rose to $24,089, and in August to $25,136.

Attention is called in the Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter to a noteworthy feature of the tobacco trade: Almost every branch of the business has experienced an increase even over the output in September, 1901, which was very large. This condition was quite unexpected, as to tobacco and snuff, in view of the fact that the internal revenue receipts were artificially stimulated prior to the ending of the last fiscal year by the then approaching reduction in the tax rate, and the rebate granted to dealers. But there is every reason to believe that the present high activity will continue for some time, at least. The most interesting item on the list is tobacco, of which there was an increased output of almost fifty per cent.

At about this time of the year there should be a good market for the finer grades of Sumatra. In New York this demand does exist, and sales are all small, and no great eagerness is displayed by the buyers. In domestic leaf the condition of the market is also said to be quiet. Havana is satisfactory condition, and Ciguetas are now almost entirely sold out, and the inquiry for good is quite general, although not at all phenomenal.

Uses New Tactics. In Chicago this week the tobacco trust nearly turned the tables on its opponents by buying up all of the available standard independent cigars and selling them at prices away below market value.

Retailers and manufacturers in the Windy City were surprised to see their own goods in the windows of the trust stores. Brands that they have been working for years to establish on a firm 5 cent basis were being doled out eight for 25 cents.

Their "three for a quarter" goods went out at five for 25 cents, and their 10 cent straight cigars were sold for 8 cents apiece.

Attempted To Prevent It. Protests were lodged at each of the stores but the clerks replied that they were ordered to lower prices. Attempts were made to find out where the trusts obtained its supply, but then made to cut off jobbers who were caught selling to the trusts, and all were notified not to fill any orders for independent goods when brought in by its agents.

That the trusts intend to continue the game was made evident by the following sign that appeared in many of the windows of its stores: "Trust, anti-trust, union, and non-union goods sold here. Everything good."

"LOVERS' LANE."

"Lovers' Lane," a play of great reputation based upon its popular elements and famous city runs, comes to the Myers Grand on Monday next. It is the offering of Wm. A. Brady, one of the few really artistic producers in this country and it is from the pen of Clyde Fitch who has written more plays, and profited more from them, than any other American dramatist.

A SCENE FROM "LOVERS' LANE."

"Lovers' Lane" will be presented by the original company and upon the same scale of proportion that made it so popular for months in Philadelphia, New York and Chicago. How promptly this play appears to all ages and classes is apparent from the fact that it filled an entire year between these three large cities. It is a comedy of many smiles, sprinkled with a few tears, and goes straight to the heart, while it teaches the lesson of broad humanity and kindness to our fellows. A great feature is the school recess scene of the second act with its fat boy and fighting lads, hoydenish little "Simplicity Johnson," the village tomboy and a bevy of merry children at their school-time songs, games and recitations. Among the many beauties of scenery is the apple orchard of real trees in Autumn leafage and or suggestive situation in the whole play.

MISS ROSE OWENS,

No. 720 Seventeenth St.,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Miss Rose Owens.

"If every suffering woman has the same experience with Wine of Cardui that I had, your medicine will be most popular. About a year ago I began to have a worn out tired feeling with lassitude, pains in the back and head which kept increasing every month. I felt that I needed something, but to get the right medicine was the trouble. I finally decided on your Wine of Cardui and only needed to take three bottles when I was fully recovered."

WHEN Miss Rose Owens, who has a responsible position in the Government service at Washington, D. C., decided to try Wine of Cardui, she made a wise choice. Over a million women have been relieved of female weakness by this same Wine of Cardui. It is not a strong medicine but may be taken every day in the year by any woman with benefit. It does not force results, but corrects derangements of the menstrual organs. It strengthens the nervous system, gives tone to the bodily functions, acts directly on the genital organs, and is the finest tonic for women known to the science of medicine.

If you are a suffering woman we would say to you that Wine of Cardui seldom fails to completely cure any case of female ills. We say emphatically, it never fails to benefit. Every day hundreds of sufferers are writing to our Ladies' Advisory Department. The letters are opened by persons competent to give advice. Mrs. Jones was cured by following the advice which was freely given her by the Ladies' Advisory Department. Miss Owens was cured without advice by just buying a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from her druggist and taking this great medicine in the privacy of her home. No doctor's examination, treatment or advice is necessary. You have read what these two cured women have written. Is this not enough to lead you to determine to be rid of suffering?

August 13, 1900, Mrs. W. H. Jones, of Canton, Mo., writes: "I suffered terribly at monthly periods for three years. I would sometimes go for seven months with no flow at all. Now I have my health back again and am expecting to be confined in January. I cannot praise your medicine enough."

Way Down East

Manager Myers should be congratulated for securing Wm. A. Brady's magnificent production of "Way Down East" for Friday next at the Myers Grand. The play tells a story of life among the plain people of a New England farm, in a simple straight forward way. There is an abundance of the comedy element present and some of its rustic characters, with their quaint ways and homely wit, are uproariously funny. The scenery in the old farm yard, the rustic kitchen and the deserted sugar camp particularly are asserted to be wonderfully accurate, and that the awful snow storm into which Anna Moore (the heroine) is cast out, surpasses anything of the kind heretofore attempted. The story of the play goes straight to the heart of the listener and frequently compels the tribute of tears. There is not an offensive line enthusiasm to the voters on election day.

Miss Percy Haswell in "A Royal Family."

"A Royal Family" which Miss Percy Haswell and her company present at the Myers Grand on Thanksgiving day may be called the most successful romantic comedy ever produced in this country. It comes here from New York, where it broke all records for the length of runs of any comedy of romance in the history of New York theatricalls. In England where the play was first produced its success was equally as great. Miss Haswell makes the role of the Princess Angela a creation that will long be remembered for its beauty, winsomeness and femininity. The production is an elaborate one; the brilliant costuming and romantic settings given Miss Haswell unusually artistic surroundings. Miss Haswell's remarkable company contains such well known names as Boyd Putnam, Maud Granger, Nancy Padgett, Harry Burghardt, Frank Roberts, Robert C. Turner and others.

EVERY MAN TO HIS TRADE

One hot day last summer a professional man was toiling and perspiring in his first effort at cultivating tobacco. He had been induced to give up his city home for a small land holding in the outskirts and the mania for wholesome exercise and profit, had induced him to plant a few acres of the weed.

The planting was easy, for a neighbor had been called in and machinery with the assistance of a couple of active boys, soon performed the task. When he adopted the roll of "the man with the hoe," it was another proposition, and as he came to the end of the row he stopped to mop the moisture from his face, he was a little annoyed by the presence of a boy on the fence, a broad grin on his face, and a look of amused disgust that was stronger than language. He recognized the lad and in a voice that displayed some emotion, said, "Well, what are you grinning at, Johnnie, you look as though you thought I didn't know much about hoeing. Maybe you would like the job yourself."

Johnnie was modest but he mustered up courage to say:
"I didn't know much about your business Mr. Smith, but I imagine that you can earn more than a dollar a day in town, and I was just thinking that I could hoe more tobacco in one day than you can in two, and I would be glad of the job at a dollar a day."

Mr. Smith was not entirely destitute of horse sense and as he hung his hoe on the fence he said to Johnnie, "I guess you're right, young man, pull off your coat and go to work. It will take a day or two to get my back straightened out, but I'll try to make enough money in town to pay your Saturday night."

Johnnie picked up the hoe, and with a merry twinkle in his eye said, "Every man to his trade is a motto to my teacher last winter said was worth remembering. You are long on law, and I am long on hoeing. Division of labor."

If this busy bee hive of activity, where the drones are soon lost in the scramble; it is well that labor is so diversified, and that it is possible for every toiler to master some calling, and through it gain at least an honest living.

There is no kind of work that is not important, and there is no department of labor that does not demand the best of human endeavor, backed by adaptability for the work in hand.

The boy with a hoe was an expert because he combined with muscle and endurance both knowledge and love for his work. He was a farmer in embryo, and a six o'clock breakfast with twelve to fourteen hours of work before dark, was a part of the daily programme. He worked at home for his board and clothes, just as faithfully and intelligently as he worked for the neighbor at a dollar a day, and while his knowledge of life and the greater outside world was extremely limited, his knowledge of the hoe and the muscle required to handle it was fully developed, so that his work was invested with the ability of a skilled artisan, and results were accomplished.

The man who employed him after the brief challenge, was also an artist, but the fair complexion and awkward movements, indicated very clearly that his field of operation was not enclosed in a five acre lot, and the energy invested was of a different character.

He had run away from the farm home before he was as old as the boy on the fence, because the work was distasteful to him. An education was distasteful to him. An education was distasteful to him. An education was distasteful to him.

Trading of votes in Dane county still continues and if the election closes with a good democrat chosen

He had been his own master for years and like all workmen in every department where brain directs energy, under the stimulus of independent action, the days were never long enough to accomplish the work on hand.

The boy fulfilled his mission and fulfilled it well. The man, in a broader field, and with mature equipment, also worked out a destiny. Both succeeded, because they were in a line of work to which they were adapted, and the motto of the boy, "Every man to his trade," applied. There was as much dignity and self-respect behind the boy, as there was behind the man. The dignity of honest toil, in whatever channel is always a crowning glory.

In this age of great opportunities when fortune is so easily grasped, there is a growing feeling of discontent, and many men who toil with their hands are restless and dissatisfied, and their work seems so commonplace, that the future discloses nothing in the way of advancement.

The daily grind becomes monotonous, and they look out and over a that are frequently clouded with jealousy and covetousness, forgetful of the fact that all honest work is honorable, and that the foundation of fortune is laid in the workshop of life.

It is perfectly natural for the American citizen, whether of native or foreign birth, to be ambitious. The atmosphere of his surroundings makes it impossible for other conditions to exist. This ambition is always commendable, but it is sometimes misdirected.

There are very few lines of work, even of the most common sort, where the brain may not be called upon to contribute liberally to the work of the hand. The half dozen men who go out with a hand car to work with pick and shovel are under the supervision of a foreman who exercises brain in directing the work. When he is promoted for intelligent service the vacancy is filled by one of the crew, who has shown some ability to think for himself. An so all through the channels of industry and commerce, men are constantly advancing because brain and mind are called into service.

The workman is extremely dull who does not discover that employers are on the alert for men who invest more than muscle in their work, or who put just enough brain into it to hold their job. And yet this ignorance is all too common not only in the ranks of ordinary labor but in the ranks of skilled labor as well.

The most practical knowledge that comes to the great mass of humanity comes through the channels of observation. This class of knowledge is not only practical, but it costs nothing to acquire. The great school is a day and night school to all comers and no preparation is necessary except a desire to obtain knowledge.

There is no age limit, and the man or woman who passes the age where knowledge is not considered important, has passed the age of usefulness.

It is worth something to know that men and women are succeeding and advancing in every department of work, but it is worth infinitely more to know how to succeed, and this kind of knowledge can only be obtained by observation. Fifty men may work in the same shop for years. They may be equally skillful and faithful, but here and there is a workman that forces to the front and in the line of advancement. It ought to be worth something to know how he did it. Study the man and his methods and you find that his brain grasped more than his trade. He cultivated the faculty of putting himself in the plan of the employer until he felt an interest in the welfare and in the success of his business, and he soon discovered that the employer recognized him and had use for him in a place of responsibility.

The clerk behind the counter made the same discovery, when his ambition prompted him to study the interests of the business, as much as he studied the goods on the shelves. "Every man to his trade," is a good motto to follow, but lack of it should be an ambition to advance and the eye of intelligence will soon discover that while the ranks are crowded that there is a great deal of vacant room at the top waiting to be occupied by earnest honest workers, who have faith in individual destiny, and patience to work it out.

TO THE VOTERS

Senator Spooner urges the voters of the state to vote the republican ticket from La Follette down. He says that more than state issues are at stake in this election and that this is most important to elect a republican congress so that President Roosevelt's splendid administration cannot be stopped by any opposition brought up by democratic members who may slip in where the republican party is split with internal strife. This is good advice and one that should be followed if the conscience will admit of it all. But remember his warning at saving the congressional representatives. In order to do this the next assembly and state senate must be republican and so decidedly that that there will be no opposition to Senator Spooner's return to the senate.

from one of the districts will not reflect nicely upon the credit of the executive machine men. Stop it governor by saying you are for Senator Spooner and follow his magnificent lead for once. The people of the state will think less hard of you if you do and you will be surprised at the number of men you count your enemies but who are not who will vote for you.

It is up to the voter now to decide just who shall be governor for the next two years. When next Tuesday's votes are counted then we all will know whether La Follette or Rose will be our next governor and whether Senator Spooner will be the honor to the state he has been for six years more.

All eyes are today centered upon Chicago and the Marshall Field of the Chicago University. This morning the Beloit college football rustlers went up against the Chicago team and this afternoon the Michigan and Wisconsin football cranks had a chance to see their respective favorites fight it out on the same line.

Free trade and hard times. That is what the cry really means and how it should be raised. Remember the Maine was the cry of the sailors in the Cuban war. Remember the hard times of Ninety Three is the cry now and then vote for good republicans to insure the continuation of the full dinner pail.

Some of the democratic papers in the state have lost the opportunity of their lives in the present campaign. They might have said more and talked less if they had watched the contradictions that appeared in some prominent campaign orators' speeches.

Now that the White House is nearly finished it would be interesting to know what Dolly Madison would think of it. She was the first lady to live in it when it was built and was burned, too, by the British in 1812.

Now the city of Janesville has been sued by the farmer who fell off of his load of wood and was run over by his team. But still we have that illuminated clock.

Still the governor does not favor Senator Spooner's re-election although the state wants him and has so instructed their assembly and senatorial candidates.

PRESS COMMENT

Milwaukee Journal: The stalwarts are in favor of "the whole ticket" but against its election.

Milwaukee Journal: "Loh's" friends are still trying to get the taste of that Appleton incident out of their mouths.

Green Bay Gazette: Although the strike is over it will be long to hang on to the wood stoves for a short time.

Waukesha Freeman: Senator Spooner continues on in his dignified course of recommending republicans to vote the straight republican ticket. He is always loyal "though others may not prove so.

Milwaukee News: Gov. La Follette seems to have got the republican party in the uncomfortable position where it cannot quit him without quitting itself.

Milwaukee Sentinel: Mr. Mansfield threatens to sue a Chicago clergyman for slander when he ought to pay the preacher next-to-reading-matter advertising rates.

Milwaukee Sentinel: President Roosevelt's message will tell what he thinks on the trust question, but his actions have already spoken louder than words.

Milwaukee Journal: Questioning the candidates for governor by the audience has become common practice throughout the state, and yet neither Rose nor LaFollette has so far forgotten himself as to give positive and direct answers.

Appleton Post: Let no one have the slightest fear, as some are disposed to, that a solid stand on the part of republicans for their ticket from top to bottom by any possibility imperil the election of Senator Spooner. Indeed, that is the way to make his return to the senate more certain than it would otherwise be. A republican legislature can be depended on to say to the Hon. Robert M. LaFollette in the governor's chair for a second time—if he is then disposed towards Senator Spooner as he is now—"thus far shalt thou come and no farther!"

Oshkosh Northwestern: There is a general disposition among Wisconsin republicans to stick by the ticket in spite of the refusal of the governor to endorse Senator Spooner, excepting under certain conditions. The voters realize that by electing the entire republican ticket, together with a clean majority of the members of the next legislature, the re-election of the senator will come about as a natural sequence of the anti-campaign pledges by a majority of the legislative nominees, backed up by insistent demand of the people that no other course shall be attempted.

Madison State Journal: Is Gov. La Follette's utterance concerning Senator Spooner on Saturday, to be interpreted to mean that he will oppose Senator Spooner's re-election in the legislature? If he will not "raise his voice" in behalf of Spooner unless the latter subscribes to the state platform, are we to understand that we "will raise his voice" against Spooner in case the senator fails to do what he demands?

ANOTHER FACTORY IS TALKED OF

JANESVILLE MAY HAVE A MODEL BRICK CONCERN,

NEW PLANT MAY COME HERE

If the Soil is Found to Be Suitable, Another Industry May Be Added to the City.

If certain experiments which are now under way turn out successful Janesville will soon have another factory added to her long list of recent acquisitions. Samples of lime and sand have been taken from near this city, and if they are of the right quality to make good brick, stockholders will be called for, a company formed, and a plant start operation in this city.

R. G. Cowles of Saginaw, Mich., is the gentleman who has been in this city to look up the matter, and who is principally interested in a factory here. F. Roessing has taken a prominent part in urging the gentleman to make a careful investigation of Janesville's resources before he looks elsewhere.

Peculiar Process
In this country there are two factories in process of erection to turn out brick of that kind for which Mr. Cowles owns the patent right in this state. Only one factory is already in operation. Even when these three factories are going it is said that they will be unable to supply sufficient brick to meet the demands of the market.

H. Huenneke and company are the patentees of the system of which will be used if a plant is erected in Janesville. Bricks made by their process are said to have many points of distinct advantage over the ordinary clay brick. Among the distinctive qualities of excellence which are claimed for this brick are the following:

Many Advantages Claimed
They can be manufactured and sold at a considerable reduction.

They can be used for any kind of construction, and in many instances are much preferable to the ordinary clay brick.

Under this system the brick can be given a diversity of shades and colors and can be used for a facing brick of especial beauty.

They can be made equally well in summer or in winter.

They can be molded in a variety of shapes.

Made Like Mortar
It is a well known fact that sand united with lime, in other words common mortar, will go through a hardening process. The mortar used by the Romans is given as an instance of what time will do to increase its strength and hardness. It is because of this property that the process has originated of making brick from these two materials in combination.

In this Huenneke process the brick is made from a suitable sand and a mixture of six per cent. of lime. The machinery used, it is said, is considerably cheaper than that for the ordinary clay brick. As outlined by Mr. Cowles the process in the brick begins by grinding the fresh lime in a pulverizing mill.

The Process
In the next step of the process the proper proportions of sand and lime are brought together and thoroughly blended, a slight amount of moisture being added. The mixture is then compressed into bricks which are loaded onto an iron tray car, and ten to twenty thousand of them are then placed in an iron cylinder, hermetically sealed, and subject to the action of steam under high pressure.

By this means the hydrated lime and siliceous acid of the lime combine to form a silicate of lime which give to the brick its hardness and weatherproof qualities. Various silicates by mixture give a variety of tints, or the scorification from a blast furnace may be used in lieu of the sand. These bricks have been given a general test in Europe and have proved, it is said, of unusual power in resisting the elements.

Mr. Cowles' Plans
Samples of the brick made from sand and lime secured near Janesville are expected to be sent here at any time, and word will soon be received from Mr. Cowles regarding his opinion of the success of the experiment. Mr. Cowles is willing to put five thousand dollars into the plant but he does not ask a bonus. He has already found others to sufficient stock to bring the capitalization of the company up to twenty thousand dollars.

MRS. A. LAWSON PASSES AWAY
Death Ended Her Sufferings Last Night At Midnight

Mrs. Jessie Lawson, wife of A. Lawson, president of the Janesville Wholesale Grocery Co., was given a welcome release from earthly suffering last night at 12 o'clock, her death occurring at her home, 208 North High street. Mrs. Lawson had been a sufferer from tuberculosis for several years and in spite of loving care, medical skill and her own brave and cheerful determination to live, the disease finally came off conqueror. She spent last winter in Arizona and New Mexico, returning home in May, since which time she has failed rapidly.

Deceased was twenty-nine years of age. She was a member of the Baptist church and one of the most active members in the King's Daughters' circle. Here was a lovely Christian character and her memory will be cherished by a large circle of personal friends and by the poor and unfortunate to whom she was especially kind.

Besides the bereaved husband, one sister, Miss Nettie Colvin, and two brothers, F. L. and R. G. Colvin, are left to mourn her loss. Funeral services will be held from the home on tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock.

MANY YOUNG FOLKS ENJOY HALLOWEEN

Appropriate Games Made the Evening Pass Merrily at Several Private Parties.

Halloween was happily observed by the young people last evening and an unusually large number of parties were held at private homes. At many of the gatherings the superstitions of Halloween were given prominent place as features of the evening while at others they were lost sight of in the enjoyment of more modern pleasures.

Miss Nash Entertains
One of the most charming of the Halloween parties was given by Miss Helen Nash, last evening at her home, 25 South Bluff street. The entertainment only eight of her intimate friends. The evening was devoted to cards and the guests enjoyed a very merry time.

During the evening Miss Nash served a delicious two course luncheon, presiding herself at the charming dish. The dining table was very attractively spread, the dining table being lighted by pink-shaded candles. The service was also unusually pretty.

Society as Guests
Members of the Laurean society, the young ladies' debating club of the Janesville High School, were charmingly entertained by Misses Ingeborg and Roberta Keller at their home, 251 South Jackson street, last evening. It was a typical Halloween party and the young women had a merry time over the old fashioned games and pranks. Elegant refreshments were served.

Miss Howe the Hostess
Candle light streaming through the grinning faces of the grotesque Jack-o'-lanterns, furnished the illumination for the jolly Halloween party given by Miss Elsie Howe at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Howe, 106 South Third street, Thursday evening. Black cats adorning the walls added to the weird effect while gypsy fortune tellers, witches and ghosts were present to add in giving the little people a proper idea of Halloween and its superstitions. Twenty little people were Miss Howe's guests and they spent the evening merrily with games appropriate to the occasion. Choice refreshments were served.

Surprise Party
The Misses Ryan were the victims of a surprise Halloween party, printed on them by a number of a number of friends who gathered at their home, 260 South High street, last evening. The company was an unique one, being a pan cake party and it was heartily enjoyed by both hostesses and guests. The evening passed happily with music and games and tempting refreshments were served.

BANQUET GIVEN BY EASTERN STAR

WORTHY GRAND MATRON WAS A GUEST OF HONOR.

VISITORS WELL ENTERTAINED

Delegations from Several Cities Witnessed the Initiation of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Howe.

Janesville Chapter No. 169, Order of Eastern Star, held a special meeting last evening for initiation purposes and the presence of several guests from out of the city together with the fact that a banquet preceded the meeting made the occasion an unusually happy one.

The chief guests of honor were Mrs. Alice Armstrong, of Black River Falls, the worthy grand matron of the order in Wisconsin, and Mrs. Harry Ash of Edgerton, Grand Electa. Mrs. W. S. Hedges, of Edgerton, Mrs. Thorpe and Mrs. Dunlop of Milton, were also among the guests of honor and there was a visiting delegation of three ladies from Durand and one from Oconomowoc.

The banquet was served at 6:30 and there was an unusually large attendance of the members of the local chapter. One hundred and twenty people were served at the long tables which were prettily decorated with cut flowers. This was the last banquet of the year, the annual election coming the first meeting in December.

An Elegant Supper
According to the established custom of the Eastern Star, its social features of each year always include three banquets given by different sections of the chapter and one general banquet given by the entire membership. This general banquet is always reserved for some special occasion and an extra effort is made for its success. It was this general banquet which was held last evening and the ladies of the Eastern Star, who are noted for their delicious suppers, even outstripped their own reputation.

Mrs. B. F. Carle had charge of the excellent spread that was served.

New Members Initiated
After the banquet came the initiation session at which Mr. and Mrs. Frank Howe were received into the chapter. It was the first initiation held since Masonic hall was refurbished and the cheerfulness of the room and the new altar furnishings added to the beauty of the initiation. The new fittings include a new electric chandelier and new views, which are very fine. The exemplification of the work was beautifully done and was highly commended by the grand officers present.

Grand Officers Speak
After the initiation there were brief addresses by Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. Ash and by W. F. Carle, of this city, past worthy grand patron of the order. An informal social session followed and it was eleven o'clock before the pleasure of the evening was brought to a close.

The social club of the Congregational church will give its first supper on next Wednesday evening, followed by an illustrated talk by Mr. Denison on "Glimpses of Ireland."

Have Not Moved My Business
An impression seems to have become founded that I have moved my business away from Janesville. This is not correct. I still retain my offices in suite 401-402, Jackson building and am there Thursday, Friday and Saturdays of each week. The first three days of the week I conduct an office in Orfordville.

BADGERS VERSUS THE WOLVERINES

Giant Struggle for Gridiron Supremacy Is On This Afternoon in Chicago.

Never in the history of Western colleges has a single game attracted such universal attention as the "Titanic" struggle which is taking place before twenty-five thousand maniacal college adherents on Marshall field in Chicago this afternoon. Twenty-five thousand college boys, ready to wager their allowance for the next six months on the result of the battle, "old grads" who feel their dormant interest in their alma mater become abnormally prominent; crowds with gaudy banners, and pretty faces ablaze with hysterical interest, business, laboring and professional men and women will crowd the field, delirious in the intoxication of a gridiron fight.

College men from all parts of the country are in attendance. Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin, have run their special trains to the scene of the game. For days trains have been unloading their human freight in the Winny City ready for the struggle of twenty-two men this afternoon.

Janesville Supports Badgers.
Janesville has sent her scores to the Western metropolis, who are in large part firm believers in the Cardinal. And it is little wonder that they should be after the great and complete confidence which the Badgers display in themselves. They know that their backs are not up to the standard, and yet they are no infants in arms, while the line is ready to cope with anything.

Michigan is now in a position where it is almost impossible to get a good line on their chances. The wise fans are doing nothing, and leaving the heavy betting to the Willies who know how it will all be from the moment the referee blows his whistle to the end of the game. A number of good wagers have been placed at the Chicago Athletic association to the tune of ten to seven on Michigan.

Wolverines Bigger Score
Neither team has been defeated in two seasons of play. A comparison of the scores made by each of the eleven against its opponents this season shows a great balance in favor of the Wolverines but there is no doubt but that they are not as strong as they were last year. At times they have displayed a fatal weakness on defense that may be fatal.

The one ardent and heartfelt prayer of every Badger supporter is that the field be hard and dry. Many a man who had placed his faith in Wisconsin grew sad when he saw the overcast sky this morning, for Madison knows too well how helpless they are on a muddy gridiron.

FINAL RITES FOR WILLIAM TALLMAN

Funeral Service at the Congregational Church This Afternoon Was Largely Attended.

Impressive funeral services were held this afternoon in memory of the late William H. Tallman. At 2:30 o'clock a private service for the relatives was conducted at the home on South Academy street. Rev. Robert C. Denison, pastor of the Congregational church, offering the brief prayer and words of consolation.

At three o'clock services were held in the Congregational church, the sacred edifice being filled with sorrowing friends who had gathered to pay this final tribute of respect to the memory of one of Janesville's foremost citizens. Rev. Robert C. Denison spoke with simple earnestness and feeling on the eternal elements of life and the song service was beautifully rendered by a quartette, consisting of Mrs. A. O. Wilson, Mrs. S. B. Lewis, C. N. Vandrick and George M. Brace, with Mrs. F. F. Lewis at the organ. Seldom have as beautiful flowers been seen in larger quantities than at the funeral today, many of the offerings coming from out of town.

At the close of the service the remains were taken to Oak Hill cemetery for burial, the active pall bearers being A. A. Jackson, Stanley B. Smith, W. S. Jeffris, Dr. James Mills, J. T. Wright and Archie Reid. Those who served as honorary pall bearers were Hamilton Richardson, Capt. W. T. Vandrick, David Jeffris, William Ruge, Paul Iverson and James Richardson.

STRIKE AT PARK HOTEL
Walters Object To Waiting On An Employee and Walk Out

Because they object to waiting on one of the male employees of the Park Hotel, is the reason given by the five young women waiters for the strike which they declared this morning. The young women walked out before breakfast leaving only the cook and his assistant on duty. The strike included the entire dining room force, the young women being Ada Thompson, Lena Siebel, Adelle Timmons, Kittie Fanning and Louisa Siebel. They say they have all secured employment elsewhere.

Landlord Kemmerer did not care to make any statement about the strike beyond the fact that the dining room girls wanted to run the house and he wouldn't stand for it. He says he secured sufficient help before dinner time so that the inconvenience caused by the strike was comparatively small.

WARRANTS ISSUED FOR SEVERAL BOYS

WILL BE ALLOWED TO EXPLAIN HALLOWEEN PRANKS.

LESS MISCHIEF THAN USUAL

Many Sidewalks Were Pulled Up—Reported Shooting—Cigar Store Indian Makes Merry Journey.

Halloween resulted rather unhappily for a number of the participants in the fun of last night. Chief Hogan says that there was rather less mischief last night than there was the year before, and that the damage that was done was confined almost entirely to smaller misdeeds. Numberless sidewalks were torn up, and lumber of different kinds was piled on front porches, but the merry spirit of mischief that usually characterizes that evening was not as pronounced as it has often been.

But warrants have been issued for the arrest of a number of boys who took part in the deprecatory sports of last evening. In the Third ward especially a large number of walks had been pulled up and the arrests from that ward were numerous. In the First Ward also some of the owners of the property that had been injured felt that the boys should be made to make some retribution for the damage they had done, and warrants will probably be issued for some of them.

Several stories were circulated to the effect that there had been shooting at about eleven o'clock in the evening in the vicinity of the Five Points but Chief Hogan discredited the story. He said that so far as he could learn, although he had heard the story, there had been no use of firearms. He attributed the loud reports which were heard to the sudden escape of air from the couplings on cars in the freight yards.

Ed. Connell's cigar store Indian perambulated around the streets last night, making quite an extensive journey before morning. When first seen it was standing guard by the car tracks in the middle of the road near the end of the Milwaukee street bridge. From that place it moved to the platform in front of Bort, Bailey & Co's store, and in the morning it was found resting in a door way near the Rock County bank.

Owes Much.
New York, Nov. 1.—Henry Koper, formerly of the firm of Charles Haight & Co., brokers, filed a petition in bankruptcy. The liabilities are placed at $202,685, unsecured. A watch and chain and ordinary wearing apparel are given as the assets.

From that place it moved to the platform in front of Bort, Bailey & Co's store, and in the morning it was found resting in a door way near the Rock County bank.

MILTON.
Milton Oct. 31.—The Beloit Academy and Milton college teams met here for the first time in their history, Wednesday afternoon. They were well matched and put up a lively game. Milton scored six after Beloit fumbled the ball and Milton got it but the Beloit referee gave the ball to the men and as they were on Milton's ten yard line they were able to make a touch down and kick goal, making a score even. In the second half neither side scored, making the game six each. Those of the spectators who were in position to see the play say that the ball when fumbled by Beloit was fallen on by Platts and by all fair rules belonged to Milton. Had it not been for this unjust ruling on the part of the Beloit official the score would have been six to nothing in favor of Milton.

TOO MUCH
Exercise is as bad as too little for the growing girl. It is very easy for her to overdo, and this is especially dangerous at that critical period of a young girl's life when she crosses the line of womanhood. It is not an uncommon thing to lay the foundation for years of after misery by neglect of necessary precautions at the first "change of life."

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription not only establishes regularity, but it gives health to the entire womanly organism. It is the best medicine for diseases peculiar to women because it cures the causes of disease completely and permanently.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine or any other narcotic. It cannot disagree with the most delicate constitution.

"For a number of months I suffered with female trouble," writes Miss Agnes McIlwaine of 1212 Bank Street, Washington, D. C. "I tried every remedy, but none seemed to do me any permanent good. The doctors said it was the worst case of internal trouble they ever had. I decided to write to you for help. I received a very encouraging reply and commenced treatment at once. I had not used your 'Favorite Prescription' a week before I began to feel better, and as I continued, my health gradually improved, and is improving every day."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

ELECTION NOTICE.

To The Electors of Rock County:

Notice is hereby given that a general election is to be held in the several towns, wards, and election precincts in the county of Rock, on the 4th day of Nov., 1902, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The names of the candidate for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to this office, are given opposite the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column, and the questions submitted to a vote are stated below.

INFORMATION TO VOTERS.

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters. A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for. If it be a general election these words are to follow: The voter if he wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party, should make a cross mark X under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot in the circle made for that purpose. A ballot so marked, and having no other mark, will be counted for all the candidates of that party in the column underneath, unless the names of some of the candidates of the party have been erased or a cross mark be placed in the square under the name or at any place in the space occupied by the name or names of candidates in another column, and will be counted for any name written in lieu of one erased. If the voter wishes to vote for some of the candidates of different political parties, he should make a cross mark under the name of each candidate he desires to vote for, or at any place within the space in which the name is printed. If he wishes to vote for a person for a certain office whose name is not on the ballot, he must write the name in the blank space under the printed name of the candidate for the office. The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all to any one voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memoranda to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter. After it is marked, it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed endorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place. A voter who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of one or two election officers in marking the same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion, as to such person's disability. The party designations and candidates for the different offices are as follows:

JEALOUS DENTIST SHOOTS SWEETHEART

Chides Girl for Receiving Attention
From Another Man, Then Uses
His Revolver.

Elkhart, Ind., Nov. 1.—Miss Lulu Barney was shot, probably fatally, while standing in the hallway of her home by Harry Gulmyer, a young dentist. Gulmyer has been attentive to the young woman for some time. While they were out together he reproved her for allowing another to pay her attention. He accompanied her to her home, which is with her mother on the second floor of a business block. In the lower hallway the two continued their quarrel. Suddenly Gulmyer drew a revolver and fired two shots. The first missed Miss Barney, but the second went through her left arm and penetrated the lung, inflicting what is regarded as a fatal wound. Miss Barney ran upstairs and Gulmyer tried to follow, but was caught by a man attracted by the girl's cries. He held the dentist until the arrival of the police.

IMPORTANT LAND GRANT CASE

Supreme Court to Decide Whether Granite Is a Mineral.

Washington, Nov. 1.—The supreme court of the United States is hearing the argument in the case of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company against J. A. Soderberg of the state of Washington. The suit involves a controversy over land within the land grant of the railroad company. The land in question is covered with granite and Soderberg claims that it is mineral, and therefore exempt from the terms of the grant. The point at issue is whether granite is a mineral. The case is meant to be a test one, much other land within the limits of the Northern Pacific grant being covered with granite.
